

THE IMPORTANCE OF LIFE-LONG LEARNING

Kids thrive on challenging, difficult, but attainable goals. The Band provides them. In Band, absolute teamwork is required. Competence provides opportunity for leadership within the group. In Band, split-second timing and concentrated cooperation are developed, useful at any age. The acquired skills and practice habits learned within the band framework carry over into adulthood and foster life-long learning. Get the Band Advantage!

You may not expect your child to become a concert musician. (Possibly, you may be surprised.) But the joy of actually making music ...along with the discipline Band teaches, and the teamwork it demands...could be the most valuable experience of your child's life. Encourage Band active participation. Put music in your child's hands and set reasonable expectations!

KIDS WHO STUDY MUSIC DO BETTER IN SCHOOL AND IN LIFE!

When children join the Band, they are learning more than just music. They are learning the critical thinking skills needed in today's work force. Children in Band develop higher cognitive skills, and increased ability to analyze and evaluate information. They also learn about teamwork and the conflict resolution skills required for success in the modern workplace, while enjoying the healthy, positive activity of Band with friends.

Children are social creatures, searching for acceptance and approval: "Watch me, Mom." or "Look what I can do, Dad." Sound familiar? We all have the desire to be "recognized" and the basic need to "belong" to something special. Band can teach your child how to play an instrument, but, more importantly, your child will gain greater pride in achievement, self-confidence, and self-awareness.

Youngsters vibrate with unchanneled energy. Learning to play a band instrument gives that energy somewhere to go; it develops coordination, concentration, personal discipline, and attention to detail.
